

Toolkit - Resources for trainers

Food Waste Tools for the hospitality sector / tourism sector and social entrepreneurship

Objectives and how to use it

Food waste is one area of the hospitality and tourism sector that has untapped potential for social enterprises. Working with and complementing SDG number 1 Poverty and undergoal 3 Zero hunger, social enterprises can provide resources to the hospitality sector related to how to manage food waste while also considering circular economy principles.

Social enterprises can be the middle hand between the hospitality and tourism sector and manage food waste and more specifically re-use and the recycling parts of it. As part of their social profile, they can collaborate with local food banks and social kitchens and re-distribute food.

Description

Training resources are required in how to be the middle hand between the hospitality and tourism sector and their tasks and activities in order to effectively and efficiently work with food waste. Social enterprises are a suitable target audience and promoter of social change thus, networking is key to make the above function.

Resources / Material required

- Excel sheets that can be used to calculate food waste
- Excel sheets that calculate your carbon foot print based on your activities
- YouTube Videos related to Food Waste and Low Carbon Activities
- Sustainability in social entrepreneurship – internet search for resource and training material
- EU course training resources such as website's ce4food.eu, free training course can be used.

